GOLD THIEF CASE IS BROUGHT HERE

Was Dismissed in Shelbyville Court
Today, But Rushville Officer
Was on Hand.

SPARKS FILES AN AFFIDAVIT

City Marshal Price Makes the Arrest—Wife of Accused Man Talks About Case.

A. S. Johnson, whom it is thought robbed Dr. F. M. Sparks' dental office in this city last summer, is now in the Rush county jail. Johnson was arrested in Shelbyville about a week ago on a similar charge. Monday his wife arrived in Shelbyville from St. Louis, engaged counsel and proceeded to fight the case. The next thing the prosecution learned of the affair, the prosecuting witness had left Shelbyville and was in another State the last heard of him. When the case was called for trial this morning the State attorney was simply up against it and had to dismiss the proceedings against Johnson.

Yesterday Dr. Sparks learned of the condition confronting the prosecution in Shelbyville, and that Johnson would probably be released, so he swore out an affidavit against the man and had City Marshal Price in the Shelbyville court room this morning. When Johnson was turned loose he breathed a heavy sigh of relief, but took it all back the next moment when Marshal Price stepped up and placing his hand on him, said that he had a warrant for him. Johnson was dumbfounded. He stood before the official with face pale as death while the warrant was being read.

For the past few days Attorney Blair, counsel for Johnson, has been trying to arouse sympathy in Shelbyville for the prisoner, declaring he was in the first stages of consumption and would probably never live if obliged to remain in jail until the October term of court. Mrs. Johnson will come to Rushville this evening to be near her husband during his incarceration here.

The Shelbyville Republican of yesterday contains an interview with Mrs. Johnson, which follows:

"At the time my husband is accused of being in Rushville he and I were in Albany, New York, where we had been for several weeks. I did not know there was such a place as Rushville on the map and I defy anybody to say that I was ever there. You know they say that Mr. Johnson and his wife were there at the time the dental offices were robbed but I was not there and the only place I have ever been in Indiana before is at Indianapolis, and that was a number of years ago. That statement is a lie, because I was at Albany, New York."

"How long have you and Mr. Johnson been married?" she was asked.

"About fifteen years, and during this time we have lived in many different places," was her answer.

"My husband has been in poor health and one doctor who examined him said that he was in bad shape. I wanted to take out some life insurance for him, but I found that I could not do so on account of his health. I have worked in factories and helped make the living and for this reason I do not intend to bring any witnesses from St. Louis here to testify, because it would be expensive and then on the other hand I do not care about our friends in St. Louis knowing about the trouble here."

"What does your husband do?"

"He is an advertising solicitor and has worked at this for several years."

"Has he ever had any other employment?"

"Yes, he is an electrician."

Mrs. Johnson was at St. Louis and came to Shelbyville several days ago on the receipt of a letter from her husband which told of the trouble here. She is of medium build and is about forty years of age. When seen by a representative of this paper she did not attempt to evade answering any questions that were asked and by the tenor of her remarks it seemed as if she thought her husband would obtain his freedom.

Galveston Tidal Wave

A disastrous tidal wave following in the wake of a terrific storm, struck the city of Galveston in Texas this afternoon and the entire city was under seven feet of water. A favorable wind soon relieved the situation and the water receded. But not until hundreds of lives were lost and much property damaged.

Meager reports bring the intelligence that the tidal wave did not result in the damage that the one of several years ago did, but many are left homeless and penniless.

After the disaster of several years ago a sea wall twenty feet in height was built around the city which is situated on an island, but seemingly it did not withstand the force of the water under a high wind and a rough sea.

Human Interest Stories Of Local Daily Life

The "kid" band has secured quarters over Kramer's meat market and when they practice, with all the windows up, it adds more life to the gay and festive scenes along the levee.

George Puntney Jr., the junior editor of the Daily Democrat is having his troubles in large bundles. The senior editor, Will L. Newbold and the office "devil" are both laid up with the mumps. But that isn't the worst. George bought a fine panama hat a few days ago. Yesterday he was sitting on the front lawn at his sister's home playing with one of his nephews when the dog of the household—a playful little pup—came along and carried off the hat. When George found it the playful pup had tried to make a shredded wheat biscuit of the hat—and succeeded fairly well. All George saved was the band.

Jabez Smith, the veteran custodian at the court house, will carry a large American flag—as if he would carry any other—in the first auto of the big parade to be given on the first day of the Chautauqua.

There is one fellow in Rushville whom the authorities should catch, throw down and put a pair of ear muffs on—and make him wear them too. He is well-to-do and withal, hard-to-do. He drives about in a rig nearly every evening accompanied by his wife. And they make a practice of stopping in front of the five cent theaters where they listen to the singer inside singing the illustrated song. When the song is finished the couple drives on and stops and waits at the next place. Anybody could be rich—as wealth is counted in a small city like this—if they would stoop to many little, insignificant tricks such as that.

Tony Schrichte, the "big noise" of the Catholic carnival, is sleeping with a woolen rag around his neck these cool July nights, getting in trim and in good voice for the carnival next week. The carnival without Tony would not be a carnival at all.

Curt Evans will take his family tomorrow and go for a visit to the old stamping grounds of his youth, Liberty township, Henry county. Evans says that Liberty township has produced more base ball players and celebrated men than any township in the State. It was in this township that Orville and Wilbur Wright, the world's famed aviators were born, within a stone's throw of the Evans home. Curt and Wilbur were born the same year. Scientific study put Wilbur "up in the air" and county option took Curt off his feet and sent him straight up. Curt spent this afternoon buying jewelry, beads and trinkets to take with him to give to the natives on his arrival tomorrow.

You often hear people talk about unknown enemies. Well, Fon Riggs has some unknown friends. For the past three or four nights some unknown admirers of Alfonso have left him a watermelon on the front steps of his store. He is saving them and will give a watermelon frolic for his friends when he gets enough melons.

Prosecutor John Cheney of Shelbyville was here yesterday on official business. He came in his motor car of which he is very proud and very much attached. They tell a story about Cheney over at Shelbyville which happened a few days ago when he was in Indianapolis. He had stopped at a three cent restaurant for some gasoline and fearing "them city boys" might come along and cop his machine for a joy ride he thoughtfully took his spark plug out and put it in his pocket. When he came out he forgot to put the plug back in its place and for over an hour he struggled with that machine trying to get the blasted thing started on its way. He crawled under it, on top of it and all over it while a crowd of idlers gathered about and gave him the guffaw. A motorist saw the spark plug was not in position and tipped it off to the gang. Then they howled long and loud while big, fat John labored and perspired. Finally he called an expert and never was a man more deeply chagrined when the greasy-faced mechanic asked him what he did with the spark plug and after putting it in its place, collected fifty cents and went his way, while the crowd gaped Cheney until he blew gasoline fumes in their faces.

FRIGHT CAUSED WOMAN'S DEATH

Mrs. Claude Hambrook Expired in Manilla When Blaze Was Discovered.

AT EARLY HOUR THIS MORNING
Henderson Dwelling Was Razed to the Ground and Was a Total Loss.

Following a disastrous fire at Manilla this morning, Mrs. Claude Hambrook died as a result of the fright caused by the blaze. The home of Grover Henderson was razed to the ground about 3:30 o'clock and the house was a total loss.

Hambrook was sitting up with his wife who was ill at an early hour this morning, when the blaze was discovered in the house next door to his home. He was the only one to see the fire and before he could remove his wife to the home of a neighbor, the fire gained such headway that it was impossible to save anything.

The sight of the fire so near her home caused Mrs. Hambrook to go into hysterics and she died soon after she was removed to another house. She had been in very poor health for several months.

Word was soon spread broadcast that the Henderson home was on fire and the whole town turned out to fight the blaze. It was only with the greatest difficulty that the dwelling next to the destroyed building were saved. The building belonged to August Coers and was insured for $500. Henderson had no insurance on his household goods which were a total loss. No estimate was given of the loss to the owner.

Mrs. Hambrook was born in Rush county in 1885 and was the daughter of William Galmore, living near Gowdy. She is survived by her husband and two children, one and two years old, respectively. The funeral services will be conducted from the home Friday morning at ten o'clock by Rev. W. R. Jinnett.

The new concern is capitalized at $3000, and the directors are Peter F. Wagner, Clinton M. Stone and Claude L. Mathewson. The formation of this company has been effected quietly and the facts did not leak out until last night.

The product which they are going to manufacture is a sort of bracket intended for gas lights. It was invented, and patented by Peter F. Wagner of Glenwood. The contrivance is said to be superior in more than one respect to any similar device now in use. It will be known as the Wagner Adjustable Drop Light and will be manufactured of light metal. Messrs. Stone and Mathewson will back the manufacturer of the new bracket and will place it on the market. The manufactory which will not require any special machinery, will be established in the Triple Sign factory, it is understood.

A VARIANCE IN DESCRIPTIONS

Officers Do Not Agree On Details of Sutton's Death.

A GLARING DISAGREEMENT

While on the Cardinal Fact That Lieutenant Sutton Took His Own Life, Lieutenants Adams and Bevan Are in Agreement, Their Testimony Regarding Details of Incidents Leading Up to Culmination of Marine Camp Rampage Do Not Correspond—Case Takes Sensational Turn.

Annapolis, Md., July 21.—The naval court's inquiry into the matter of the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, U. S. M. C., of Portland, Ore., took a sensational turn when First Lieutenant W. F. Bevan of the marine corps, now attached to the battleship New Jersey, related his part in the tragedy in the early morning of Oct. 13, 1907. Bevan was officer of the guard in the marine camp that night, and one of the first men to reach the scene of Sutton's death.

Like Lieutenant Adams, he testified that Sutton deliberately shot himself, but beyond that cardinal fact his description of Sutton's alleged suicide varied in important details from the story told by Adams, the man who said he had participated in a life and death struggle with the young Oregon lieutenant just prior to his act of self-destruction.

The most glaring disagreement with Adams's story came when Bevan swore that he and two other officers were on top of Sutton and trying to hold him down to prevent him from using his revolver, when Sutton freed an arm from under him and fired a bullet into his own brain after someone remarked that he (Sutton) had killed Lieutenant Roelker. Adams testified that he had risen from Lieutenant Sutton's body and that Sutton lay exhausted and alone on the ground when he saw him raise his right hand and fire the shot that ended his life.

Bevan's testimony also revealed that a situation bordering on a wild west rampage had existed in the marines' camp just prior to the shooting, when Sutton had been trying to make Lieutenant Roelker dance by leveling two revolvers at his feet and afterward rushed from the camp, disregarding his arrest by the officer of the guard and shouting that he would quit the marines for good and all.

CONFEREES CLASH

Hints of Serious Differences in Tariff Conference.

Washington, July 21.—The tariff bill was hoisted above the bickerings of congressional conferees and transferred bodily from the capitol to the White House. Deadlocked because of the attitude of Representative Payne, who apparently has become obsessed with the growing conviction that he is in the minority, the conferees abandoned the session, and Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon repaired to the White House post haste to consult with President Taft, literally taking the tariff bill with them.

Most of the conferees spent the time going over the troublesome details of the conference with the leaders. Reports of serious conflicts of opinions over various schedules were bandied about and grew to extravagant proportions with the telling. The long absence of Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon did not tend to ease the tense situation.

What happened at the White House is a sealed book. When Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon returned to the capitol they minimized the differences that had aroused bitterness in the conference room and insisted that nothing unusual had occurred. Senator Aldrich said that he expected that by tonight, when all of the conferees are to be entertained by the president at dinner, most of the problems apart from those receiving the personal attention of the president will have been solved.

Nevertheless, there has been trouble behind those closed and guarded doors that shut the public from the room where the real tariff bill is being constructed. Some say that the differences between Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne have taken such form that progress is impossible unless the president has influence enough to compel action. This story is denied by both of the principals. It is not denied, however, that there was a clash.

Both Sides Claim Victory.

Butler, Pa., July 21.—The strike of the employes of the Standard Steel Car company has ended through the efforts of Father Beczewski of the local Catholic church, who was granted partial concessions in behalf of the men. Both sides claim victory in the settlement.

Original Amount Increased.

Obituary.

Vernon Estel McDaniel died in the far away Southland Sunday, July 11, 1909. On February 15 last, Vernon started for Texas in company with his friend, Louis Newhouse, on whose father's farm they found employment. Encouraged and hopeful were all reports from them, Vernon writing often, describing the country, climate and friends, always happy and contented. His friends here could not be otherwise than encouraged until on July 1 a telegram was received by his father of his serious sickness of typhoid fever. Hastening with all possible speed to his bedside, he found Vern very sick, but not considered dangerous. He was located ideally, and nothing that money or loving hands could supply was wanting. Vern was hopeful and patient, planning for his recovery and loving friends were patiently waiting, glad that he was in good care and would be home soon to visit and rest, when suddenly like a dark bolt from the sky fell the sad news of his death.

Only a few hours had Vern known that he could not live, but death had no terrors and here is one consolation. His father said to him "Vern, do you know you could not live?"

He answered, "I am not afraid" and so far away and alone these two, father and son, fought the great battle, holding his father's hands and gazing into his eyes and smiling sweetly to the last, Vernon fell asleep.

But sad was that home coming. Vernon had gone away so full of life and hope, only to be returned in his casket. And yet this is not Vern; he is now with his mother in heaven. For eighteen years since his mother's death his home has been with his father and brother, the three living alone. That home is saddened, bereft, but not without the hope that dear Vern has only gone on before. And when we all come to death may we be able to say "I am not afraid."

Notice of Stockholders Meeting.

the Peoples Natural Gas company of Rush county will be held at the office of said company, 240 Main street in Rushville, Indiana on Mopday, August 2, 1909, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing five directors to serve for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

GEORGE W. OSBORNE,
D-July 12-19-26 Secretary.

The National Summer Capital.

Beverly and Manchester-by-the-Sea, on the north shore of Massachusetts, are likely to become the combined summer capital of the nation in 1909. President Taft has chosen to spend the summer months on that historic rocky coast where for years past many prominent members of the diplomatic corps have had their rendezvous. Environment has a marked influence on opinions and decisions, and prophetic and imaginative souls predict great results when the executive department is accompanied for months by the ceaseless ocean roll that breaks in storm and calm all along the north shore from Gloucester down to Marblehead and to Swampscott. The vivifying breezes of that New England coast may induce a breadth of view wide as the great ocean and vigorous as the salt breezes.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine For July.

The Gate Ajar.

Open the door to heaven?
It never yet was closed.
The God who lights the heavens
Has left the key exposed.

In every cross capped temple
A guide to heaven stands.
On every altar burns a lamp
Not lit by human hands.

Mongolians may enter

To learn the word of wisdom
The angels whisper there.

Open the door to heaven!

THE SPECTRE OF ALGECIRAS

Raised by Clemenceau Proved His Undoing.

CASE OF POLITICAL SUICIDE

French Premier Forced to Resign at a Moment When, With Victory in His Grasp, He Lost His Head and Threw to the Winds the Marvelous Political Discretion Which Had Made Him Master of France—The Republic Stupefied at Unexpected Cabinet Crisis.

Paris, July 21.—At the conclusion of a violent debate over the naval scandals extending over several days, the Clemenceau cabinet last night suddenly fell. M. Delcasse, chairman of the investigating commission, led the attack upon the naval administration. But M. Picard, minister of marine, had promised in the name of the government to complete a series of reforms, and the chamber was ready to vote confidence in the government, when an incident occurred which changed a majority into a minority. Premier Clemenceau, who always has been an adversary of M. Delcasse, smarting under the criticisms and doubtless over-confident of a majority which on July 15, upon the general policies of the government, was 182, taunted the ex-minister of foreign affairs, who was thrown overboard by the Rouvier ministry at the dictation of Germany during the crisis of 1905, with having led France to humiliation at Algeciras. The specter of that chapter of France's foreign history in which Delcasse was sacrificed, was a fatal error. Instantly there was an uproar of dissent from both sides of the chamber. Delcasse flung back the taunt in Clemenceau's face with bitter words, declaring amid cheers that France had gone to Algeciras in the interest of peace.

Hot words were bandied back and forth. It was a veritable duel between two enemies. M. Delcasse intimated that Clemenceau had inspired articles in the foreign press during the crisis, but the latter emphatically denied this imputation. The premier seemed for the first time in his parliamentary career to lose his head. Finally M. Delcasse, as he was entering upon an explanation of the situation in 1905, drew himself up proudly and said:

"I shall say nothing further on that subject. I have nothing to fear. Nothing in the past, nothing in our common memories of twenty-five years embarrasses me. If I look back I see I have left something besides ruins."

Then, turning directly to Clemenceau, he said: "You were president of the naval investigation commission of 1904. Your unsparing attacks upon every government during twenty-five years seemed sufficient guarantee that you would find the root of the evil. What were the results, I ask?"

M. Clemenceau, now evidently in a rage, tried to parry the thrust by returning to the charge.

"Your policy as foreign minister," he shouted, "led us to the greatest humiliation France has experienced in twenty years."

Another storm of hostile cries arose, several deputies crying: "It is an outrage to say that." But the premier tried to assume his old cynical air. "Oh, no false indignation, I pray you," he exclaimed. "You brought us to the verge of war without military preparation."

Again the tumult was redoubled.

"Yes," he shouted, above the roar. "The whole world knew that the ministers of war and the navy, when the question was put to them, replied that France was not ready. I have not humiliated France; Delcasse has done that."

The scene when the premier took his seat was indescribable. Amid the wildest excitement the vote was taken and when it was announced that the government had been beaten, 212 to 176, Clemenceau clapped his hat on his head, pulling it far down over his eyes, and stalked out of the chamber, followed by the other ministers in token that he intended to resign. M. Clemenceau went immediately to the Elysee Palace and told the story to President Fallieres, who seemed stupefied at the incident which caused the fall of the cabinet, but he accepted the resignation of the premier and his ministers.

There is but one opinion in Paris today—astonishment that an old parliamentary warhorse like Clemenceau should have committed political suicide by his awkwardness in recalling the Algeciras spectre upon the eve of adjournment, when the government was assured of a majority on the naval question. The premier's action drove about fifty members of the republican "Bloc" into a combination with the Right and extreme Left, unhorsing the man whose ministry had been the longest in the history of the third republic, and who for three years has been absolute master in France. The fall of the cabinet was so unexpected that the political world is completely at sea as to who will be Clemenceau's successor at the head of the government. President Fallieres is consulting with the presidents of the chambers today.

BOLIVIAN MINISTER GETS HIS PASSPORTS

The Argentine Breaks Off Relations With Neighbor.

Buenos Ayres, July 21.—The Bolivian minister here has received his passports from the Argentine government, which has ordered him to leave Buenos Ayres within twenty-four hours.

The government has also telegraphed Fonce, Argentine minister to Bolivia, to leave LaPaz immediately.

The action of the Argentine government follows the refusal of Bolivia to accept the decision of Argentina in the matter of the boundary dispute between Bolivia and Peru. The Bolivian minister advised the Argentine government that Bolivia had decided to submit to parliament for consideration the arbitral award rendered by President Alcora, which in itself was considered sufficient reason for breaking off relations. In addition, however, the Argentine republic has taken offense at the action of the president of Bolivia, who, it is asserted, has sent circulars to the prefects throughout the country, casting reflections on the Argentine government.

Confirmed at LaPaz.

LaPaz, July 29.—It is officially confirmed that the rupture between Bolivia and the Argentine republic is complete, diplomatic relations having been broken off. The Bolivian government has ordered the Bolivian minister at Buenos Ayres to return to La Paz, and has further instructed him to leave the archives with either the American, Chilean or Brazilian legation.

OUTWITTED LAWYER

Indianapolis Detective Acted With Promptness in the Franklin Case.

Little Rock, Ark., July 21.—Anticipating that habeas corpus proceedings would be resorted to to restrain the removal of the prisoner, Detective Lancaster of Indianapolis, left Little Rock with Harry M. Franklin, alleged forger, wanted in that city, and was en route back to Indiana before the attorney representing the man learned of his removal.

Franklin had previously been convicted on a statutory charge in connection with his alleged relations with a former stenographer, whom he introduced as his wife.

UNCLE SAM WINS OUT

Another Victory Achieved For the "Open Door" in China.

Washington, July 21.—American participation in the Hankow railroad loan of $27,500,000 about to be negotiated by the Chinese government, and other enterprises, will be arranged to the entire satisfaction of this government, thus assuring the maintenance of the "open door" in China. Assurances to this effect have come to the state department from Pekin. American bankers are expected to be given a quarter part of the loan.

INGRAM INDICTED

New Orleans Banker Said to Be Short $100,000.

New Orleans, July 21.—Wyatt H. Ingram, jr., trust officer of the Hibernia Trust and Bank company, arrested several days ago on the charge of embezzlement, has been indicted by the grand jury on twelve counts, two charging embezzlement and ten charging forgery. His shortage is estimated at about $100,000.

A $300,000 Fire Loss.

Masonville, W. Va., July 21.—The most disastrous fire in the history of this place broke out in L. H. Miller's department store and destroyed the Hotel Altman and the Fanston and Maddas blocks, causing a loss estimated at $300,000.

Pennsylvania Labor Troubles.

Newcastle, Pa., July 21.—An attempt to conduct 125 alleged strike breakers through the city on their way to the tin mills caused a riot during which one man was seriously injured, and scores of others beaten and bruised.

"ENGLAND UNARMED."

Cannon Henson Tells Canadians That Empire Is In Peril.

Addressing the Canadian club of Victoria at a luncheon there, the Rev. Canon Henson of Westminster abbey, London, strongly urged the clergy of all denominations to preach the gospel of practical patriotism throughout the British empire, inciting sacrifices everywhere in order that Britain may procure as quickly as possible an efficient army and navy capable of contending with the powers massing against her. He regarded the present agitation in England, he said, not as a scare, but rather the prelude to a great national crisis.

"England today is practically unarmed and defenseless," said Canon Henson. "Why should we alone among the nations believe we can go on forever enjoying undisturbed the heritage our fathers won for us? The empire must for its continued existence be sustained by a new patriotism."

"We have seen Russia with all her mighty power collapse before what hitherto had been thought to be a small and unimportant nation. England has watched with growing anxiety the sharp and brutal methods of diplomacy applied to Russia and France by a powerful state in Europe. It is upon these grounds that the people of Britain are thinking of the pressing urgency of this great question of imperial defense."

RACES FOR WOMEN ONLY.

International Equestrienne Contests to Be Held in Rome This Year.

Prince Scaglia, the famous horseman, is putting the finishing touches to the program for the international women's races to be held in Rome, Italy, some time in the fall. Equestriennes from all over the world will be invited to compete, and the prince has promises from society ladies in the United States, Italy, Russia, France, Austria and England to enter the races, riding their own horses as lady jockeys. If not enough society women can be secured professional riders will be invited; otherwise the latter will be excluded.

The races are to be managed by Emile Durer, Mascagni's manager, but the Rome Societe Hippique, of which Prince Scaglia is president, will decide on the admittance to applicants. Amazons will be invited to compete both in flat races and the steeplechase.

According to Prince Scaglia, a rich American residing in Paris has offered a prize of 100,000 francs for the lady winning in the 12,500 foot race. It is reported that James Hazen Hyde made the generous offer. There are to be other prizes to attract the ladies.

FAMILY TRAVELING IN A CART.

War Veteran Pushing Them From Winchester, Va., to Waterville, N. Y.

William Bishop, aged sixty-three, a veteran of the civil war, is on his way from Winchester, Va., to Waterville, N. Y., his old home, which he left last year to better himself in the south. Times did not improve there, and he is returning as he went, pushing a cart on three wheels, with a box on it nine feet long, fitted up as a room, where he, his wife and three children sleep and in which the family remain while Bishop shoves the odd vehicle over the roads.

The family had $18 when they left Winchester and have lived on an average of 60 cents a day. They had recently covered 590 miles and had 275 ahead of them before they reach Waterville.

Sentenced to Read Dickens' Book.

"Return to Cleveland and read Dickens' 'David Copperfield.' It will do you much good." This was the sentence recently imposed by Judge Newcomer in the Harrison street police court in Chicago on Joseph Masterson, eighteen years old, accused of stealing a pair of trousers from a Clark street store.

A WOMAN HUMILIATED

Would Not Attend Social Functions Because of Her Hair.

There are many women in this world, handsome in features, perfect in form, graceful of movement and brilliant of mind, who keep in the back ground just because they have thin, colorless and lusterless hair.

In Paris they understand things about the hair that we do not know in this country. It was a Parisian, Dr. Sabourand, who discovered that thin hair and dandruff are caused by a microbe.

It is Parisian Sage that proves Dr. Sabourand's theory to be correct, for it is rigidly guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co., to kill the dandruff germ and cure dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is a delightful pleasant hair dressing and invigorating; it is not sticky or greasy. It should be used freely in summer as it keeps the scalp clean and cool and free from odors.

The price for Parisian Sage is only 50 cents for a large, generous bottle and is for sale by leading druggist everywhere. Sold in Rushville on the money back plan by F. B. Johnson & Co. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Made in America by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo.

A minister over at Indianapolis is wasting his time in preaching against the women wasting their time in playing cards. There is no dearer theme for a man, and especially a preacher, than to inveigh against something that women are doing or wearing, particularly wearing. This has gone on from the beginning of time, probably will go on to the end of time. We know from Ezekiel that even in that faraway day they were preaching against women's fashions. There never has been a time when certain men and all the preachers were not throwing fits over some fashion. Those of the older generation can remember the tirades against the hoop skirts, and since that time against Grecian bends, "tie-backs," pillow-like sleeves, big hats, etc. At each time the preachers were quite sure that these were dragging women down the broad road to certain destruction. The women, however, went on calmly wearing these highly objectionable things until they got tired; when they changed them. They will go on playing bridge until something more attractive offers, and all the tirades from the pulpit, the press and the conjugal firesides might as well not have been uttered for all the effect they will have. Women are a law unto themselves, and man is barely an incident when fads and fashions find favor in the eyes of the so-called weaker sex.

4. The papers submitted should be practical and the practical quality of the suggestions made will be given more weight than literary merit, although both qualities will be considered. The judges above named will decide all controverted questions and their decision will be final in all matters.

5. The first prize will be ten dollars in gold; second prize, two season tickets to the Rushville Chautauqua in session August 6-15, 1909; third prize, one season ticket to the Rushville Chautauqua, in session August 6-15, 1909. Announcement of the winners of these prizes will be made from the platform at the opening session of the Chautauqua on the night of August 6th, before the beginning of the program and the announcement will be made by Lincoln Guffin, president of the board of directors. Announcement will also be made in the columns of this paper and the three successful manuscripts will be published exclusively in the Daily Republican.

It is hoped that merchants and their families will be especially active in this contest as it is one which relates to the growth of the business and material interests of our city, and of all persons they should be most keenly alive to the commercial improvement of Rushville.

High school students are also urged to compete for the prizes as any bright young person who tries hard has a good chance of winning.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

A GIANT TOMATO.

(Richmond Item.)

Frank Waidele, an employ of the Gause Floral company, has a new variety of tomato, which promises to be a bumper. The plant is now six feet high and has half developed tomatoes which measure thirteen inches around. Mr. Waidele has been experimenting with tomatoes for nine years and during that time has grown forty varieties. This year he had ripe tomatoes July 3.

PREACHERS AND POSTERS.

(Shelbyville News.)

A preacher down at Greensburg has come out strong in denunciation of the posters gotten out by the board of directors advertising the Decatur county fair. The preacher alleges the posters are indecent and unfit to be placed before the public and advises people not to patronize the coming fair and protests against the merchants hanging them in their show windows. The posters which are causing the preacher so much unrest are similar to those that have been used during the past six years. Is it that the reverend gentleman is seeking a little notoriety?

ARE FLYING HIGH.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

If some one hands you a lemon freeze on to it. The price of citron has advanced in leaps and bounds during the past few days and before the summer is over the price will be almost out of sight.

For a time lemons were bought for $2 a box by local grocers, but now the prevailing price ranges between $6 and 7. Grocers say that in a few days the price will soar to $10 or $12 a box and several years ago the top price reached was $18. Lemons that have been selling for a cent apiece are now being sold two for a nickel. The price always gets up during the summer months on account of the scarcity of the commodity and the increased demand.

PRAYER MEETING MENU.

(Greenfield Tribune.)

The prayer meeting Wednesday is a spiritual feast to which you are invited. Come with your Bible under your arm and a prayer on your lips, your song book in your hand and take your stand with the faithful and God will do the rest. Yes, we expect you to attend prayer meeting. God will give us the victory, brethren and sisters. Don't forget Wednesday evening. Spiritual refreshments will be served. Following is the spiritual menu:

"The Bread of Life," John 6: 50, 51.
"The Lamb of God," John 1: 29.
"Choice Fruits," Ephesians 5: 9-11.
"Living Water," John 4: 5-14.
"Christ is the Guest of Honor," Matthew 18: 19, 20.

Besides these delicacies the occasion shall be interspersed with a new song one that has thrilled more hearts than all other songs combined, Isaiah 42: 9-12. Come and you shall occupy a choice seat, Psalms 1: 1-6. Rev. R. O. Rogers, Pastor.

Experience Proves.

Time tells which is best and most reliable. For 70 years Perry Davis' Painkiller has been driving away pain and bringing health—as a remedy for sprains, burns, bruises, rheumatism, neuralgia. It cures colds, cramps, bowel complaint. But be sure to take this unequalled remedy promptly. Large bottles 35 cents or larger 50 cents.

PETITIONER SAYS DECISIONS DIFFER

Madison County Paving Case Was Similar to Local Case—Decision Was Exactly Opposite.

WAS ALSO LIKE ONE IN KOKOMO

In speaking of the recent brick paving case in the local courts, today one of the petitioners referred to two decisions in this State the past few weeks in regard to the same matter. He said that in a decision in the Howard circuit court a few weeks ago Judge Kirkpatrick held that the word pavement was comprehensive in its scope and included all kinds of paving material as well as foundation and cement work.

He also used as an illustration the case in the Madison county courts only a short time ago, when Judge McClure decided that city streets could be paved under the three-mile law. He said that the case was similar to the local one and the decision was exactly opposite, as Judge McClure held that the clause "and other like paving material" included brick and other materials used in paving city streets.

BY THE WAYSIDE

The following news item (?) was received in the mails at this office today:

Mr. Bert Benson of Anderson is visiting near Gings. Wonder what pretty widow will soon change her name? Bert seems serious. He has many Rushville friends.

WAS KNOWN HERE.

"Doc" Simpson, a patent medicine veteran, known in every section of Indiana is dead at East Haven where he had been a patient for several months, says the Richmond Item. Simpson was not only famous as a specialist and medicine vender, but also for the size and number of diamonds he wore. His body was taken to Camden, Ohio, Sunday, where it was buried.

While Simpson made several fortunes out of his medicine sales, he was a good spender and a very generous person. He lived off the "fat of the land" and when reverses came in his old age, he was compelled to take up residence in the Madison county infirmary, where he remained for several years and where he became insane.

Drivers of vehicles should always remember that the law requires them to pull to the right when an automobile approaches from the rear and is permitted to pass. This is very essential for the automobile to pass on the left side of the vehicle. It is very dangerous to leap from a buggy on the side of the machine will naturally take—the left side. Always pull to the right as the law directs.

THEATER CROWD ON THE INCREASE

Moving Picture Business is Here to Stay—Why it Will be Permanent.

A GREAT FIELD TO EXPLORE

No End to the Possibilities—An Innovation Which Would be Warmly Welcomed.

It is always difficult to look into the future and make accurate prophecies, but it does not require a soothsayer or sage to predict great things in the moving picture business. The business is now in its infancy in the way of progression and improvements. There are a number of people in Rushville—probably the vast majority—who thought that motion pictures were a fad and would go out in a few months. Instead we now have three theaters here and all seemingly prosperous.

Great things can be done with the moving picture machine along an educational line, giving us an insight to many industries, as they now do, and bringing the choicest and most picturesque scenes on earth to our very door for five cents. The price puts it within the reach of the very poorest man and his family. That is one reason it has come to stay, for it will always be patronized by the rich and poor alike. We see men and women in their native garb on their own sod, engaged in various pursuits of life, and truly, it is not only wonderful, but a rare treat indeed. Soon that old adage that "one half of the world does not know how the other half lives," will pass out and the moving picture shows will be the direct cause of wiping it out forever.

A few nights since one of the local theaters had pictures of the Wright brothers in flight in their aeroplane near Paris. It was really better than being on the ground, for the picture people had a dozen machines or so in that vicinity and caught pictures of the aeroplane in different localities. We saw it start, we saw it circle about and we were present—with the machine operator—and saw it alight some few miles away from the starting point. And all for a nickel. Another theaters gave us pictures of "The Land of the Midnight Sun," and even had views of Old Sol himself as he is seen in the far frozen North. Oh, there are so many things of interest that it would be tiresome to recount them. For those who like the melodrama, nothing is better than some of the strong plays enacted on the white canvas. Then there is comedy and trick films galore.

It seems to us that a welcome innovation—and a step in a fertile field—would be the appearance of some of the great American, English and French actors and actresses in scenes from the plays that they have made famous and that made them famous. Like as not, it will come.

Wouldn't it be a treat to see Mlle. Bernhart in one of her best parts from "L'Aiglon;" Forbes Robertson in a strong scene from "Hamlet;" Dave Warfield in "The Music Master;" Lillian Russell in one of her irresistible scenes from "Wildfire;" Harry Louder in a comedy skit; Maude Adams in one of those dreamy scenes never to be forgotten, in "Peter Pan;" one of the big scenes from Fred. Thompson's "Via Wireless;" Leslie Carter in another, and the long list of popular American artists in the different roles. The list would never decrease; it would not

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet was crowded to capacity last night at every performance. The Thomas Sisters, musical prodigies from Arlington pleased the big crowds. The little violinist is a marvel. They will appear again tonight. Many children attended the Vaudet last night. Tonight the drama, "A Bruised Heart" and the colored film "1909" will be shown. Earl Robertson, baritone, will sing "Won't You Come Home, Daddy Dear."

At the Star-Grand tonight and tomorrow night will be shown a romantic drama entitled "The Curfew Bell," which is one of the most beautiful stories in English history, and has been notably portrayed in this splendid film. Miss Iva Brown will sing "If You're Now the Only one in All the World You Want to Win."

The Palace theater will change pictures tonight and the management offers a good program. Miss Blanche Wrennick will sing "The Summer-time's the Only Time."

Charles Bartine was in the city over Sunday, says the Connersville Examiner. Mr. Bartine's show exhibited at Anderson Saturday night and was scheduled for a show at Noblesville Tuesday. After touring the northern part of the State the show will start toward Connersville and will exhibit here in about three weeks. Mr. Bartine says this has not been a very good year for circuses, that many of them have found the "sleddin'" hard, but that he has done very well, and from now on expects business to be better.

MR. SAUNDERS HAS A PLAN.
MISS PELHAM'S affair with Thomas Saunders by this time had reached the stage where observers feel a hesitancy about twitting the parties most concerned.

"Miss Pelham is a clever girl, much cleverer than Saunders would be if he were a girl," said Britt. "She's found out that he earns a thousand a year and that his mother is a very old woman. That shows foresight. She says she's just crazy about London, although she doesn't know where Hammersmith is. That shows discretion.
She's anxious to see the boats at Putney and talks like an encyclopedia about Kew gardens. That shows diplomacy. You see, Saunders lives in Hammersmith, not far from the bridge, all alone with his mother, who owns the house and garden. It's all very appealing to Miss Pelham, who has got devilish tired of seeing the universe
from a nineteenth story in Broadway."

"She's a very nice girl," agreed Bobby Browne.
"A very saucy one," added Deppingham, who had come a severe cropper in his single attempt to interest her in a mild flirtation.

"She's off with Saunders now," went on Britt. "That's why you can't find him, my lord. If you really want him, however, I think you can reach him by strolling through the lower end of the park, but don't fail to shout."

"I do want him, confound him! I want to ask him how many days there are left before our time is up on the island. Demmed annoying that I can't have legal advice when I—"

"How many days have you been here?"
"How the devil should I know? That's what we've got Saunders here for. He's supposed to tell us when to go home and all that sort of thing, you know."

Deppingham, phlegmatic soul, was forever disturbing Saunders with calls to duty, although Saunders was brutish enough in his British way to maintain—in confidence, of course—that he was in the employ of Lady Deppingham or no one at all. Nevertheless he always lived under the shadow of duty. At any moment his lordship was liable to send for him to ask the time of day or some equally important question. And this brings us to the hour when Saunders unfolded his startling solution to the problem that confronted them all.

First he confided in Britt soberly, sagely and in perfect good faith. Britt was bowled over. He stared at Saunders and gasped. Nearly two minutes elapsed before he could find words to reply, which proves conclusively that it must have been something of a shock to him. When at last he did express himself, however, there was nothing that could have been left unsaid—absolutely nothing. He went so far as to call Saunders a doddering fool and a great many other things that Saunders had not in the least expected.

The Englishman was stubborn.
They had it back and forth, from legal and other points of view, and finally Britt gave in to his colleague, reserving the right to laugh when it was all over. Saunders, with a determination that surprised even himself, called for a conference of all parties in Wyckholme's study at 4 o'clock.

"Now, what's it all about, Saunders?" demanded Deppingham, with a wide yawn. Saunders looked hurt.

"It is high time we were discussing some way out of our difficulties," he said. "But five weeks remain before our stay is over. The apparent impossibility of marriage between Lady Deppingham and Mr. Browne naturally throws our joint cause into jeopardy. There would be no controversy, of course, if the terms of the will
could be carried out in that respect.
The islanders understand our position and seem secure in their rights. They imagine that they have us beaten on the face of things. Now, the thing for us to do is to get married."

He came to this conclusion with startling abruptness. Four of his hearers stared at him in blank astonishment.

"Get married?" murmured first one,
then another.

"Are you crazy?" demanded Browne.
Britt was grinning broadly.

"Certainly not!" snapped Saunders.
"Oh, by Jove!" exclaimed Deppingham, relieved. "I see. You mean you contemplate getting married. I congratulate you. You gave me quite a shock, Saund."

"I don't mean anything of the sort, my lord," said Saunders, getting very red in the face. Miss Pelham looked up from her notebook quickly. He winked at her, and her ladyship saw him do it. "I mean that it is high time that Lady Deppingham and Mr.
Browne were getting married. We haven't much time to spare. It—"

"Good Lord!" gasped Bobby Browne.

"You are crazy, after all."

"Open the window and give some air," said Britt coolly.

"See here, Saunders, what the devil is the matter with you?" roared Deppingham.

"My lord, I am here to act as your legal adviser," said Saunders, with dignity. "May I be permitted to proceed?"

"Rather queer legal advice, 'pon my word."

"Please let him explain," put in Mrs.
Browne, whose sense of humor was strongly attracted by this time. "If there is anything more to be learned concerning matrimony I'd like to know it."

"Yes, Mr. Saunders, you may proceed," said Lady Agnes, passing a hand over her bewildered eyes.

"Thank you, my lady. Well, here it is in a nutshell: I have not spoken of it before, but you and Mr. Browne can very easily comply with the provisions of the will. You can be married at any time. Now, I—"

"And where do I come in?" demanded Deppingham sarcastically.

"Yes, and I?" added Mrs. Browne.

"Yer forget us, Mr. Saunders."

"I include Mrs. Browne," amended Deppingham. "Are we to be assasinated? By Jove, clever idea of yours, Saunders! Simplifies matters tremendously."

"I hear no objection from the heirs," remarked Saunders meaningly, whereupon Lady Agnes and Bobby came out of their stupor and protested vigorously.

"Miss Pelham," said Britt, breaking in sharply, "I trust you are getting all of this down. I wish to warn you, ladies and gentlemen, that I expect to overthrow the will on the ground that there is insanity on both sides. You'll oblige me by uttering just what you feel."

"My plan is very simple," began Saunders helplessly.

"Demmed simple," growled Deppingham.

"We are living on an island where polygamy is practiced and tolerated.
Why can't we take advantage of the custom and beat the natives at their own game? That's the ticket!"

Of course this proposition, simple as it sounded, brought forth a storm of laughter and expostulation, but Saunders held his ground.

"You have only to embrace Mohammedanism or paganism, or whatever it is, temporarily—just long enough to get married and comply with the terms. Then, I dare say, you could resume your Christian doctrine once more, after a few weeks, I'd say, and the case is won."

"I pay Lady Deppingham the compliment by saying that it would be most difficult for me to become a Christian again," said Browne smoothly, bowing to the flushed Englishwo-man.

"How very sweet of you!" she said,
with a grimace which made Drusilla shiver with annoyance.

"You don't need to live together, of course," floundered Saunders, getting rather beyond his depth.

"Well, that's a concession on your part," said Mrs. Browne, a flash in her eye.

"I never heard of such an asinine proposition," sputtered Deppingham.
Saunders went completely under at that.

"On the other hand," he hastened to remark, "I'm sure it would be quite legal if you did live to—"

"Stop him, for heaven's sake!"
screamed Lady Agnes, bursting into uncontrollable laughter.

"Stop him? Why?" demanded her husband, suddenly seeing what he regarded as a rare joke. "Let's hear him out. By Jove, there's more to it than I thought. Go on, Saunders."

"Of course if you are going to be nasty about it—" began Saunders in a huff.

"I can't see anything nasty about it,"
said Browne. "I'll admit that our wife and our husband may decide to be stubborn and unreasonable, but it sounds rather attractive to me."

"Robert!" from his wife.

"He's only joking, Mrs. Browne," explained Deppingham magnanimously.

"Now, let me understand you, Saunders. You say they can be married according to the customs—which, I take it, are the laws—of the islanders.
Your plan provides Browne with two charming wives and gives me but one.
There's nothing to compel Mrs. Browne to marry me."

"But, my lord," said Saunders,
"doesn't the plan give Lady Deppingham two husbands? It's quite a fair division."

"It would make Lord Deppingham
my husband-in-law, I imagine," said Drusilla quaintly. "I've always had a horror of husbands-in-law."

"And you would be my wife-in-law,"

SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp.
My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable.
Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS,
Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker.
I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

supplemented Lady Agnes. "How interesting!"

"Saunders," said Deppingham soberly, "I must oppose your plan. It's quite unfair to two innocent and uninvolved parties. What have we done that we should be exempt from polygamy?"

"You are not exempt!" exclaimed the harassed solicitor. "You are merely not obliged to; that's all. You can do as you choose about it, I'm sure. I'm sorry my plan causes so much levity.
It is meant for the good of our cause.
The will doesn't say how many wives
Mr. Browne shall have. It simply says that Agnes Ruthven shall be his wife. He isn't restricted, you know.
He can be a polygamist if he likes."

"You're right," said Britt. "The will doesn't specify. But, my dear Saunders, you are overlooking your own client in this plan."

"I don't quite understand, Mr. Britt."

"As I understand the laws on this island—the church laws, at least—a man can have as many wives as he likes. Well, that's all very well for Mr. Browne. But isn't it also a fact that a woman can have no more than one husband? Lady Deppingham has one husband. She can't take another without first getting rid of this one."

"Saunders," said Deppingham, arising and lighting a fresh cigarette, "you have gone clean daft. You're loony with love. You've got marriage on the brain. I'd advise you to take some one for it."

"Do you mean that for me, Lord Deppingham?" demanded Miss Pelham sharply. She glared at him and then slammed her notebook on the table.

"You can josh Mr. Saunders, but you can't josh me. I'm sick of this job.

Get somebody else to do your work after this. I'm through."

"Oh!" exclaimed every one, in a panic. It took nearly ten minutes to pacify the ruffled stenographer.

"Perhaps we could arrange for a divorce all round," cried Saunders, suddenly inspired.

"On what grounds?" laughed Browne.

"Give me time," said the lawyer.

"It's barely possible that there is no divorce law in Japan," remarked Britt, enjoying his confrere's misery.

"Are you quite sure?"

"Reasonably. If there was 'such a law I'll bet my head two-thirds of the men in Ararat would be getting rid of their wives before night."

"I'm tired," said Lady Deppingham suddenly. She yawned and stretched her arms. "It's been very entertaining, Saunders, but really I think we'd better dress for dinner. Come, Mr.
Browne. Shall we look for the princesses?"

"With pleasure, if you'll promise to spare Deppingham's life."

"On condition that you will spare Deppingham's wife," very prettily and airily. Mrs. Browne laughed with amazing good grace, but there was a new expression in her eyes.

"Your ladyship," called Saunders desperately, "do you approve of my plan? It's only a subterfuge!"

"Heartily!" she exclaimed, with one of her rarest laughs. "The only objection that I can see to it is that it leaves out my husband and Mrs.
Browne. They are very nice people, Saunders, and you should be more considerate of them. Come, Mr.
Browne. She took the American's arm and gayly danced from the room.
Lord Deppingham's eyes glowed with pride in his charming wife as he followed with the heartless Drusilla."

"I would have won them over if Britt had not interfered," almost wailed little Mr. Saunders, his eyes glazed with mortification.

"I'm getting to hate that man," said Miss Pelham loyally. "And the others! They give me a pain! Don't mind them, Tommy, dear."

Lady Deppingham and Browne came upon the princess quite unexpectedly.
She was in the upper gallery, leaning against the stone rail and gazing steadily through the fieldglasses in the direction of the bungalow. They held back and watched her, unseen.

The soft light of early evening fell upon her figure as she stood erect, lithe and sinuous, in the open space between the ivy clad posts.

Genevra smiled securely in her supposed aloofness from the world. Then, suddenly moved by a strange impulse, she gently waved her handkerchief as it in greeting to some one far off in the gloaming. (The action was a mischievous one, no doubt, and it had its consequences—rather sudden and startling, if the observers were to judge by her subsequent movements. She lowered the glass instantly. There was a quick catch in her breath, as if a laugh had been checked; confusion swept over her, and she drew back into the shadows as a guilty child might have done. They distinctly heard her murmur as she crossed the flags and disappeared through the French window without seeing them:

"Oh, dear, what a crazy thing to do!")

Genevra gently waved her handkerchief.
had discovered the figure of Chase on the bungalow porch. She was amused to find that he, from his distant post, was also regarding the chateau through a pair of glasses. A spirit of adventure, risk, mischief, as uncontrolled as breath itself, impelled her to flaunt her handkerchief. That treacherous spirit deserted her most shamelessly when her startled eyes saw that he was waving a response. She lay awake for a long time that night wondering what he would think of her for that wretched bit of frivolity. Then at last a new thought came to her relief, but it did not give her the peace of mind that she desired.

He may have mistaken her for Lady Deppingham.

EXCURSIONS

Saturday Night, July 24 '09

$1.50 to

Benton Harbor

Train leaves Rushville 10:44 p.m.

TO BUSINESS IN AIRSHIP.

John Shepard, a Boston Merchant, Wants a Safe Aeroplane.

An airship soaring above Boston harbor and eventually coming to rest upon a specially equipped platform on top of a high building is the daily spectacle which Bostonians may witness if the plans of John Shepard, one of Boston's wealthy merchants and a promoter of all outdoor sports, are carried out.

Shepard, much to the interest of his many friends, asserts that he is in the market for an airship that will carry him on his daily trip from his summer home at Phillips Beach, Swampscott, Mass., to Boston.

"People can't go fast enough on earth," he asserts. "There are too many hindrances. You have to go in a roundabout route to reach a given destination. In the air it is all different. Just as soon as I am assured that air travel is safe I shall purchase an aeroplane and make my daily trips in the latest and most speedy manner."

"I have been planning to get my first impressions of air travel by taking a balloon trip. After that, if an aeroplane can be found that is pronounced safe, you can say that John Shepard will do his traveling by air."

Today at seventy-five years Shepard is as keen a lover of the novel sport as those of the younger generation. During his leisure time at Phillips Beach he busies himself with a huge collection of literature concerning the doings of the Wright brothers and others who are now making aeroplane travel an assured success.

REUNION OF TRAIL DRIVERS.

Wagon Masters of Freightling Days May Meet in Independence, Mo.

William Z. Hickman of Independence, Mo., has suggested a meeting of old "wagon masters" or drivers of wagons on the old Santa Fe trail as a feature of the coming meeting of the Independence fair. Mr. Hickman was county clerk of Jackson county soon after the civil war. He is now a deputy county surveyor.

In his younger days he was a "wagon master." He says there are perhaps five or six others in or around Independence. Mr. Hickman saw the last wagon train that crossed the plains as it left the southwest corner of the public square in Independence.

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Rushville Should Know How to Resist it.

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Rushville.

L. B. Downey of North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I can strongly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills from my own experience with them. My back was very lame and any quick movement was followed by sharp twinges through my loins. Recently I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store and through their use I was relieved."

DIVORCE COSTS MUST BE PAID

Decree Will Not Be Entered Until This Is Done.

MUCH MARITAL CONFUSION

County Clerk at Terre Haute Says

That Ninety Per Cent of the People

Who Think They Have Been Divorced Are Not Legally Unbound

From Galling Chains—Many of

These Persons Have Been Married

Again—No Decree Entered Until All

Costs Are Paid.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 21.—Having the concurrence of the judges of both courts, County Clerk John F. Royce has made it known that divorce decrees will not be put on record unless the costs are paid. It has been found that in many cases the prosecutor's fee of $5 and the entry fee of $2 is paid, but not the other fees and the costs which go to the county and the state. Until the decree is entered it is not effective.

Some of the persons seeking divorce give the money to the lawyer and believe that all has been paid. A few days ago a woman and her affianced husband applied for a marriage license, but she was refused because the costs in her divorce case had not been paid. Clerk Joyce personally will get none of the money, but he serves notice that hereafter he is going to insist on the full payment.

"It is safe to say that 90 per cent of the divorce cases stand on the docket the same as that of the woman who wanted to be married," he says. "There are lots of people running around thinking they are divorced when they have not been, and many of them have married again."

PUSHING THE INQUIRY

Grand Jury at Watseka Takes Up the Saylor Case.

Watseska, Ill., July 21.—The evidence in the Saylor murder case is being heard by a special grand jury convened here. State's Attorney Pallissard expects that true bills will be returned against Dr. William R. Miller, now under arrest on the charge of murdering J. B. Saylor, the Crescent City banker, and against Mrs. Saylor, and perhaps one or two other persons.

While the prosecutor will not divulge the names of his witnesses, it is believed that besides those who testified at the coroner's inquest, one new witness will be called, and he will testify to the contents of the private papers found in Saylor's vault after the tragedy. It is said that if Miller is indicted he will demand a change of venue on the ground that the feeling in this county is too strong for him to get a fair trial.

Killed by the Cars.

Jeffersonville, Ind., July 21.—Reuben Short, forty-two years old, a teamster of this city, met death two miles from Otisco when an entire train passed over him. It is the opinion of Coroner Coots that Short must have fallen from the first section of Big Four freight train No. 92, and been so badly injured that he could not get off the track before the second section ran over him.

Strike Conditions Quiet.

Elwood, Ind., July 21.—Strike conditions at the local plant of the American Steel and Tinplate company are quieter than at any time since the strike was ordered. The city officials have ordered the strikers to avoid gathering in crowds in the main thoroughfare or at railroad or interurban stations, under penalty of being arrested for loitering.

John A. Cooke Paroled.

Joliet, Ill., July 21.—John A. Cooke, former clerk of the circuit court in Chicago, who has been serving a sentence for misusing public funds, has been paroled by the state pardon board, owing to the reported illness of his mother.

The Deadly Gasoline.

Brazil, Ind., July 21.—Mrs. Alice Isgrig, fifty-two years old, was burned to death and three other persons were badly scorched in a gasoline explosion resulting from the filling of the tank of a gasoline stove while the burners were lighted.

Terre Haute Negro Shoots.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 21.—Charles Johnson shot Lang Murray at the colored men's so-called club in the west end, and Murray will die.

Shot Himself in Head.

Huntington, Ind., July 21.—John Young, a farmer, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a rifle.

Returning to Nairobi.

Salgosa, British East Africa, July 21.—Colonel Roosevelt left his camp here today and will proceed to Naivasha, from which place he will go on Saturday to Nairobi, where he will remain until Aug. 5. On that day he will start for Kenya.

The Want Advertisements

Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal service. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bargaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.
